NOTED LINCOLN HISTORIAN TO SPEAK AT LINCOLN DAY PROGRAM

(LINCOLN CITY, INDIANA) Noted researcher, author, and historian William (Bill) Bartelt of Newburgh, Indiana, will be the featured speaker for the 1991 Lincoln Day Program at Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial. The program will be held on Sunday, February 10, at 2:00 p.m. (CST). The public is invited to attend.

Bartelt is a 1968 graduate of Indiana State University and is the holder of a Masters degree from the University of Evansville. His principal academic interests are United States History, Government, and Economics. He has been an avid collector and researcher of Lincolniana for over 20 years.

Bartelt is the author of more than 30 research papers on Abraham Lincoln's Indiana history including "Thomas Lincoln: The Land Dealings of a Spencer County Pioneer," a study soon to be published in the Indiana Magazine of History. Other publications include A Tale of Two Counties, Settling Down in Dubois and Spencer County and A Chronology of the Old Vanderburgh County Courthouse, Jail, and Sheriff's Residence published in 1990.

He has taught U.S. History, Economics and Government at Harrison High School for more than 20 years and is an instructor of U.S. History at the University of Southern Indiana. He served as president of the Indiana Council for the Social Studies in 1981-1982, and was a member of the Indiana

Governor's Task Force on Citizenship Education from 1982-1988. He is a member and office holder of numerous historical and preservation societies. Bartelt has worked summers as a seasonal ranger/historian at Lincoln Home National Historical Site in Springfield, Illinois and at Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial since 1969. Bill and his wife Kathy reside in Newburgh, Indiana.

Co-sponsored by the GWFC Lincoln Club of Southern Indiana and the National Park Service, this year's program includes Mr. Bartelt's address, music by the David Turnham Educational Center S.T.A.R.S Chorus, and ceremonies to honor the memory of Abraham Lincoln and his family. Following the indoor program, there will be the traditional pilgrimage to the gravesite of Nancy Hanks Lincoln for eulogy and wreath-laying ceremonies. A reception will follow the program.

A YEAR OF ANNIVERSARIES

1941 - The Nancy Hanks Lincoln Memorial Building - 1991

This handsomely designed, solidly-built, 50-year-old building is the culmination of the vision and hard work of the people of Indiana and two co-operating organizations, the Indiana Lincoln Union and the Indiana Department of Conservation. The work they began in 1926 to "preserve the grave of Nancy Hanks Lincoln and to erect a suitable, simple, yet dignified Memorial to both Lincoln and his mother," was achieved by 1944. The cornerstone for this remarkable structure was laid on May 20, 1941, fifty years ago. As early as February 12, 1943 the first Lincoln commemorative meeting took place in the Memorial Halls. In 1962, the State of Indiana entrusted the Memorial Building and grounds to the stewardship of the National Park Service.

1966 - Visitor Center Dedicated at Lincoln Boyhood - 1991

The establishment of Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial as a unit of the National Park Service was authorized by an Act of Congress on February 19, 1962. Soon after acceptance and dedication, work began on improvements to the Memorial Building. Twenty-five years ago, on August 21, 1966 the Memorial Visitor Center was formally dedicated.

1816 - Indiana Becomes the 19th State - 1991

"We removed from Kentucky to what is now Spencer County, Indiana, in my eighth year. We reached our new home about the time the state came into the Union."

Abraham Lincoln's autobiographical letter to J. W. Fell, Dec. 20, 1859

Abraham Lincoln and his family came to Indiana one hundred and seventy-five years ago in 1816, the year Indiana achieved statehood. By 1830, as the State's pioneer period was ending, Abraham Lincoln had come of age and stood tall, mentally and physically ready for his destiny. He had grown up here in Spencer County, on our own good soil of Indiana. On the Great Seal of Indiana is a tall frontiersman with axe in hand felling a tree. This woodsman might well symbolize Abraham Lincoln, Indiana's finest contribution to civilization.

1916 - Diamond Anniversary of the National Park Service - 1991

Seventy-five years ago the establishment of the National Park Service was authorized by an Act of Congress on August 25, 1916. Congress created the National Park Service to "...promote and regulate the use of the...national parks, monuments and reservations...and to provide for the enjoyment of the same in such manner and by such means as will leave them unimpaired for the enjoyment of future generations."

LIVING HISTORICAL FARM OPENS

(LINCOLN CITY, INDIANA) The National Park Service and Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial have announced the opening of the Lincoln Living Historical Farm for the 1991 season. Hours of operation this year will be from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. daily (CDT) beginning Saturday, April 20.

Visitors from all over the world visit Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial to learn about the nationally and internationally celebrated figure, Abraham Lincoln. They learn here that Lincoln was a frontier boy and young man much like many others of his time. Here he worked and played, developed manual skills, read books, shared a family life, earned his first dollar, and experienced love and tragedy.

Daily through the visitor season, costumed interpreters at the farm illustrate pioneer domestic arts and crafts, frontier farming methods, and other activities connected with pioneer life. Visitors will find men and women doing the same things the Lincolns did when they lived here. Each day there are a number of chores that have to be done, such as chopping firewood, feeding the animals, and milking the cow. Throughout the season, activities such as cooking, sewing, splitting rails, riving shingles, and spinning wool and flax are performed by the men and women on the farm.

Administered by the National Park Service, U.S. Department of the Interior, Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial is located at Lincoln City on Indiana Highway 162, adjacent to Lincoln State Park, four miles west of Santa Claus, Indiana. The Memorial Visitor Center is open daily 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. (CDT). Telephone (812) 937-4541.

Expecting an attempt on Lincoln's life in Baltimore, Pinkerton's detectives sneak Lincoln into Washington on a different train. Lincoln takes some lessons in war strategy from a young friend and officer who later becomes the first Union Officer killed in the Civil War. Secretary of War, Simon Cameron, is reassigned as Ambassador to Russia after Lincoln discovers that Cameron has been making a large profit by reselling supposedly defective arms back to the government. Lincoln discusses with General McClellan his promotion to General of the Army. When McClellan doesn't work out, Lincoln appoints Ulysses S. Grant to replace him. Lincoln visits Richmond near the end of the war.

July 18 (12:00 Noon)
MRS. LINCOLN'S HUSBAND

Mary Todd Lincoln's Southern sister raises suspicion by visiting the White House. Rumors spread that Mrs. Lincoln is actually a southern spy. Twelve year-old Willie Lincoln, third son of the Lincolns, dies of malaria. Mary shows her temper as she goes into a jealous rage at General Ord's wife. Mary's loyalty is questioned by a Congressional committee.

July 19 (12:00 Noon)

Secretary of the Treasury, Salmon Chase, is torn between his loyalty to the President and his desire to become President. His supporters issue pamphlets and newspaper articles pushing his campaign without his full support. Chase offers his resignation, but Lincoln tells him it is not necessary. Later, over another matter, Chase again resigns and much to everyone's surprise, Lincoln accepts. Lincoln is nominated for a second term even though he has some self-doubts. Lincoln is reelected in 1864 and is sworn in by the newly appointed Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, Salmon Chase.

July 20 (12:00 Noon)
LAST DAYS

The Civil War is finally over and President Lincoln and his Cabinet discuss reconstruction of the South. Lincoln has a premonition of his own death. President Lincoln and Mary Todd Lincoln, on an afternoon in the country, April 14, 1865, discuss their time together after Lincoln leaves the Presidency.

LINCOLN BOYHOOD TO CELEBRATE "NATIONAL PARKS DAY"

(Lincoln City) On August 25, 1991, the National Park Service will host the largest open house in its history as it celebrates "National Parks Day" nationwide. Visitors on that day will have free admission to all of the fee-charging parks in the National Park System. The legislation which gave the Service permanent fee collection authority, also authorized the Service to provide the public with one free admission day each year. August 25 was selected because this date marks the anniversary of the National Park Service.

In 1916, when President Woodrow Wilson signed legislation creating the Service, there were 14 parks and 21 monuments in the National Park System. Included among them was Yellowstone, which had been made a National Park in 1872. At that time it was not only our country's first national park, but the first national park in the world. Since then, the national park idea has spread to countries throughout the world.

Today there are more than 357 different parks, comprising 80 million acres, administered by the National Park Service. One of those is Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial at Lincoln City, Indiana. This Memorial preserves the place where the Thomas Lincoln family lived and worked from 1816 to 1830. Abraham Lincoln was 7 years old when they arrived there, and was a grown man of 21 by the time they moved on to Illinois.

In addition to suspending the entrance fee for the day, Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial at Lincoln City plans to celebrate "National Parks Day" by showing special films from other National Parks throughout the United States, times and film titles are as follows:

Film Showing Schedule
Saturday, August 24 and Sunday August 25

8:00 am	Golden Spike - Golden Spike National Historic Site (20 min.)
9:00 am	Tower in Stone - Devils Tower National Monument (6 min)

THE PHOTOGRAPHY OF GEORGE ALEXANDER GRANT 1891-1964

(LINCOLN CITY, INDIANA) A National Park Service traveling exhibit titled "The Photography of George Alexander Grant 1891-1964" will be on display at Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial from November 9 to December 5, 1991.

Every organization has its unsung heroes. For the National Park Service, Photographer George Grant is one of these. Born in Maryland, he fell in love with the American West when stationed with the Army in Wyoming during World War I. While employed as a seasonal ranger at Yellowstone in 1922, he took photographs of the Park. His life's work was set. After training as a professional photographer in the East, he was named the first Chief of Photography for the National Park Service in 1929. For the next quarter of a century he amassed an unparalleled record of tens of thousands of negatives that have assured him a place as one of the nation's outstanding photographers.

Superintendent Paul D. Guraedy cordially invites the public to view this exhibit from 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. daily.

This exhibit consists of 12 panels 42" X 27". Six panels are full size black-and-white photos of six different parks. The other six consist of an introduction panel; Dedications and Surveys; People; Geology, Archeology, Architecture; Civilian Conservation Corps, 1933-1942; and Stamps. The Harper's Ferry Center photo library in Springfield has a collection of approximately 75,000 nitrate negatives taken by George Grant, and this exhibit attempts to show the photographer's diversity and dedicated interest to the National Park Service.

175th ANNIVERSARY PROGRAM AT LINCOLN BOYHOOD NATIONAL MEMORIAL

(Lincoln City, Indiana) On Wednesday, December 4, 1991, Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial will celebrate the 175th anniversary of the Lincoln Family arrival to the newly formed state of Indiana. The program will also remember the 175th anniversary of Indiana's statehood. These occasions will be commemorated at a special anniversary program at the National Park. North Spencer County School Corporation Superintendent, Ronald B. Etienne; Dr. Douglas E. Clanin, Editor of the Indiana Historical Society; and Professor of English at Knox College, Dr. Douglas L. Wilson will be the featured speakers. The public is invited.

The indoor program is December 4, 1991, beginning at 1:00 p.m. (CST). It will take place in the Abraham Lincoln Hall of the Memorial Visitor Center. The program will include a special address on the "Importance of Education" by North Spencer County School Corporation Superintendent, Mr. Ronald B. Etienne; a program discussing "The Indiana of 1816" by Dr. Douglas E. Clanin; and a presentation on "The Influence of Indiana on Abraham Lincoln: the Man and President" by Dr. Douglas L.A. Wilson.

Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial is an ideal place to learn about Abraham Lincoln and his family, who lived here from 1816 to 1830. The 200 acre wooded and landscaped park, a unit of the National Park Service, is located on Highway 162, six miles south of Dale, Indiana.

"...He moved from Kentucky to what is now Spencer County, Indiana, in my eighth year. We reached our new home about the time the state came into the Union. It was a wild region, with many bears and other wild animals still in the woods. There I Grew Up..."

(Autobiographical letter to J. W. Fell, Springfield, Illinois, Dec. 20, 1859)

Abraham Lincoln and his family came to Indiana one hundred seventy-five years ago, on December 11, 1816. This was the same year Indiana achieved statehood. By 1830, as the state's pioneer period was ending, Abraham Lincoln had come of age. He stood tall, mentally and physically ready for his destiny. He had grown up here in Spencer County. On the Great Seal of Indiana is a tall frontiersman, with axe in hand, felling a tree. This woodsman's strength and stamina might well symbolize the character of Abraham Lincoln.

(K14 LIBO)

Dear Lincoln Friend:

Enclosed is information on Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial for your interest and use.

We would appreciate your conveying this information to interested parties who may inquire about activities at Lincoln Boyhood.

Thank you for your cooperation in helping us inform the public of Lincoln Boyhood's unique and educational programs.

Sincerely,

Randy Davis
Park Ranger

Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial is a place to learn about Abraham Lincoln and his family, who lived here in a pioneer community from 1816 to 1830. When Abraham was seven years old the family moved here from Kentucky to settle on 160 acres of Indiana wilderness land. This is the place where Abraham spent his boyhood, until he was 21. Here, young Abraham helped his father Thomas clear the forest to make a pioneer farm. Here his mother Nancy died of "milksickness" in 1818 when he was only nine. Here the growing youth split rails, plowed and planted among the stumps, played, read, and attended schools "by littles". Thomas', second wife, Sarah Bush Johnston, a widow with three children, brought cheerfulness and order to the Lincoln cabin. The two families merged and new vigor was injected in repairing the crowded cabin and clearing more land for crops.

Today the 200 acre wooded and landscaped park, a unit of the National Park Service, is located on Indiana Highway 162 and made up of a Memorial Visitor Center, the gravesite of Nancy Hanks Lincoln, self guiding trails, and the Lincoln Living Historical Farm. The Lincoln Living Historical Farm does not retain any of the original structures from the Lincoln's time in Indiana but was built in an attempt to depict a typical farm of the 1820 period. It incorporates some of what is known of the Lincoln farm and activities which were a common part of the Lincoln family's daily life. The staff at the Lincoln Living Historical Farm dress in period clothing to demonstrate daily activities. These activities include domestic arts and crafts, animal husbandry, farming gardening, cooking, quilting, splitting rails, and riving shingles to name a few. Visitors can see people doing the same things the Lincoln's did when they lived here. During the course of a day special programs are presented on subjects related to early 19th century midwest farm life and Indiana Lincoln history. A demonstration farmer is responsible for plowing, planting, cultivating, and harvesting of crops as his regular period farm activities. The concept of the farm operation is one of a continuous hour-by-hour, day-by-day living display.

The Lincoln Living Historical Farm is open seven days a week, mid April through September, with costumed park rangers on duty. During the remainder of the year, the farm becomes a exhibit in place with the buildings closed. The Memorial Visitor Center with displays, exhibits, information and park film is open year round 8:00 am to 5:00 pm except Thanksgiving Day, Christmas Day, and New Years Day. The park trails and grounds are open year round from sun up to sun down.

For more information contact the park superintendent at Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial, P.O. Box 1816, Lincoln City, Indiana 47552 or phone (812) 937-4541.

LINCOLN DAY PROGRAM AT LINCOLN CITY

(LINCOLN CITY, INDIANA) A special program to honor the memory of Abraham Lincoln and his parents, Thomas and Nancy Hanks Lincoln, will be presented at the annual Lincoln Day Program on Sunday, February 9, 1991, at Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial in Lincoln City. The public is invited to attend.

The program will begin at 2:00 p.m. (CST) in the Abraham Lincoln Hall of the Memorial Visitor Center. The featured speaker will be Dr. Rodney O. Co-sponsored annually by the GFWC Lincoln Club of Southern Indiana and the National Park Service, the program includes Professor Davis's address, music by the Tecumseh High School Chorus, and ceremonies to honor the memory of Abraham Lincoln and his family. Following the indoor program, there will be the traditional pilgrimage to the gravesite of Nancy Hanks Lincoln for wreath-laying ceremonies. A reception will follow the program.

Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial preserves the Indiana farm where Abraham Lincoln lived for 14 years -- from 1816 to 1830, and the site where his mother, Nancy Hanks Lincoln is buried. The Memorial is located on Indiana Highway 162 adjacent to Lincoln State Park.

(LINCOLN CITY, INDIANA) Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial is now taking applications for qualified volunteers for a variety of projects already underway or planned for the 1992 season.

National Parks throughout the United States actively recruit volunteers to provide services and to accomplish projects that would not be possible without donated services. Service groups and organizations can also be Volunteers-in-the -Park. LIVING HISTORICAL FARM OPENS

(LINCOLN CITY, INDIANA) The National Park Service and Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial have announced the opening of the Lincoln Living Historical Farm for the 1992 season. Hours of operation this year will be 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. daily (CDT) April 19 through June 11, and 8:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m. daily (CDT) June 12 through September 6.

Visitors from all over the world visit Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial to learn about the nationally and internationally celebrated figure, Abraham Lincoln. They learn here that Lincoln was a frontier boy and young man much like many others of his time. Here he worked and played, developed manual skills, read books, shared a family life, earned his first dollar, and experienced tragedy.

Daily through the visitor season, costumed interpreters at the farm illustrate pioneer domestic arts and crafts, frontier farming methods, and other activities connected with pioneer life. Visitors will find men and women doing the same things the Lincolns did when they lived here. Each day there are a number of chores that have to be done, such as chopping firewood, feeding the animals, and milking the cow. Throughout the season, activities such as cooking, splitting rails, riving shingles, gardening, and spinning wool and flax are performed by the men and women on the farm. Special pioneer skills "hands on" educational programs are scheduled throughout the farm season. Scheduled talks and demonstrations on a variety of subjects related to early 19th century pioneer life and the Lincoln family in Indiana will be conducted this year from June 12 through September 6.

Administered by the National Park Service, U.S. Department of the Interior, Lincoln Boyhood National Memorial is located at Lincoln City on Indiana Highway 162, adjacent to Lincoln State Park, four miles west of Santa Claus, Indiana. The Memorial Visitor Center is open daily 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. (CST), January 2 through June 11, 1991, 8:00 a.m. to 7:00 p.m. (CDT) June 12 through September 6, and 8:00 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. (CDT-CST) September 7 through December 31.
